	Lesson outline	In this lesson, we will introduce Mulan and traditional tales as a genre. We will read the opening chapter of Mulan and predict what might happen next in the story. Use a mind map to think of prior knowledge of 'traditional tales', look at vocabulary.	In this lesson, we will continue reading the next section of Mulan. Reflect on the last lesson, read the next section, and answer questions, using inference skills.	In this lesson, we will continue reading the next section of Mulan. Reflect on last lesson, read the next section of the book and use further inference skills from the text to answer the questions.	In this lesson, we will analyse Mulan as a character by analysing her character traits. Use what you already know about Mulan to help answer further questions on the book. Investigate Mulan's character using nouns, answer questions using inference and knowledge you have built up to answer questions.	In this lesson, we will explore the key themes in Mulan. Reflection on last lesson, explore what 'theme' means, main themes in Mulan and answer questions about this.
	Extra Notes	Use prediction skills to think what might happen thinking of what you already know.	Think of what you already know and justify your answers.	Listen hard to the vocabulary check to look at meaning of new words. Think of your own view to answer the last question!	Think of your own view to answer the last question!
